More New Homes in Parkland Estates

Construction for two (2) new homes began this week in the Parkland Estates subdivision – a 74-lot subdivision located at the corner of W. 2nd Street & Lakeview Boulevard. The homes are being started as four (4) others reach the final stages of construction.

Although uniquely different from each other, both new houses will be the Craftsman/bungalow style with covered porches in both the front and rear of each home. Both homes will have 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and 2-car garages. Approximate square footages will be 1420 and 1600.

The Parkland Estates subdivision was developed by Dana Point Development Corporation and offers a landscaped entrance with an attractive brick and wrought iron fence and development signs. Parkland Estates is being developed with a sense of community and offers homeowners amenities which include porches, future walking trails and a location that is adjacent to a future City park.

“The variety of architectural styles and amenities in Parkland Estates has created a great demand and a relatively constant stream of construction activity. In addition to these two new homes we plan on starting more in the Spring once weather allows,” commented Matt Thomas, President of Dana Point Development Corporation.
